MEASES. Dove & Co.—Gentlemen: I used about one fourth of a bottle of your Tuif Oil mon the back of my borse, the worst back I almost ever saw, entirely raw, place nearly as large as my band, and this single application (I only applied it once) cured it up entirely and permanently. I really was emprised at the quickness of the curative properties, and I think it more; rompt an afficaction than anything of the kind I ever saw, and have sold thomsands of hottles of other preparations to similar purposes.

OENTLEMEN: My old men. Blily, about 70 years of age while hewing stile with a breadaxe, will the calf of the leg open down to the bone, about 3 or 4 incluse long, cutting an artery. It bled profined, for two days, and continued to bleed until cold and stift. I had to give him bot brandy. I could not sew it me, but just seturated a piece of linea with your Turf Oil and ladd it on the cut. I did not expect him, on account of his age, ever to be able to work again. I continued to dress the womat two or three weeks with the Turf Oil. In six weeks the cut was entirely well, and he was st work again.

third less than can be purchased elsewhere. Call on or note. He proposes to lay a plan of his machina and solicit aid in perfecting on a on a large scale, which is thus described:

It consists of a boiler and engins, with a revolving cylinder or barrel, whose length is to vary according to the size of the ball which it is desired to shoot. This cylinder has half a degen bores, the same as a revolver, from which balls are constantly forced out, as fast as the cylinder can be made to revolve fast enough, several hundred a mhane without difficulty.

This cylinder is connected by a crank, by means of which it can be pointed in mny direction, the same us the hose of a firs engine as a fire. It is proposed to make the boiler so that the steam will be of a pressure of 1,000 pounds to the it ch. For throwing a musket ball the cylinder will be about ien feet in length; but the machine can be made to throw a cannon ball to five pounds' weight a distance of five miles. I would throw a market ball two miles, and kill a man.

LITERATURE OF GUESTP AND ITS DEFENCE .-St James's Magazine has the following on gos-Two Kinds of Gossin - The gos lo which is now in favor is always the gossip of educated persons, who are able to generalize their knowledge by a large experience, and is wide as the poles acunder from the tattle of the Itame Quicklys. Here is the only sort of gossip which has happily got into hed odor—the talk of a woman who, with no hed odor—the talk of a woman who, with no RESTORATIVE. power of thought, has a great faculty of reminerance, and is peculiarly fitted to chronicle sus beer. It is difficult to select examples of the opposite kind, they are so ahundant. first that occurs to me, a story of Heidegger, who is frequently mentioned in the correspondence of Mrs. Delany as "the famous masager of the others, and the most ugly man that ever was formed." As he most hideous of the human race, hi-As the most hideous of the human race, his prireit was many times eigreved; it was in great request; and Lord Chesterfield backed him heavily egainst the wold. In hopes of what hat the wager, an old woman was brought forward who was considered in he still more ugly. Tho judges dered that fleid agor was the hardsomer of the twn, and Chesterfield was about to pay his bet, when a sudgen thought struck him. He demanded that fleid agger should put on the old women's bonnet. The bonnet was put on, and the Swiss Count appeared so frightful in it that Chesterfield was at once declared the winner. The thittle bit UNIVERSAL CONFIDENCE!! Count appeared so frightful in it that Chesterfield was at once declared the winner. That little bit of club jossip is es suggestive as it is emusing.

The Gossip of Scandal—i have confined my remarks to the intellectual worth of gossip end the intellectual qualifications of those who cen alone excel in the art. I have not said a word about that species of it which Sheridan has glibeted in the most celebrated of his plays—the gossip which is inspired by ill-nature and impertinent curinsity and lives upon scardal. I pass it by, partly because ill-nature is delectually however displayed, and it is useless to hemmer out such traism; partly because the ill-nature and impertinent curiosity which comestimes degrade guestp is more often en intellectual than a PROF.
